

ABOUT WHEATONARTS

Organization History and Mission

For over four decades, Wheaton Arts and Cultural Center has been a vital community, national and international cultural resource in southern New Jersey. Nestled in a beautiful pineland setting and with a mission to "engage artists and audiences in an evolving exploration of creativity,"

WheatonArts remains the region's primary tourist destination and serves as a dynamic center for the arts with ever-expanding programs that capture the imagination of all ages.

WheatonArts hosts ongoing educational programs, exhibitions, workshops, performances, artist residencies, several multi-day cultural events and an annual fine craft festival. Programming and events attract over 60,000 visitors annually and over 95,000 people benefit from off-site lectures, demonstrations, activities in schools and historical organizations, and other venues. Additionally, over 2,000 children visit for class tours and youth programs, and for unique programs targeting at-risk youth, such as the "Glasstown Collective." WheatonArts is recognized by the New Jersey State Council on the Arts as a Major Arts Organization, "given in recognition of the organizations' solid history of artistic excellence, substantial programming, and broad public service." This honor also notes that the Center "stands among a group of organizations across our state that contributes vitally to the quality of life in New Jersey."
